
Hydroponic Microgreen System

 NatureHydro

Microgreen is the shoot of a vegetable plant that is picked just after the first few true leaves have developed. The Hydroponic Microgreen Growing System is designed to allow for more sunlight to reach between each level. There is even enough space to add artificial lighting above each level. Within 5 levels per rack and 4 channels per level, the 20 channels will allow you to harvest a full channel 3-4 times per week. As an increasingly popular ingredient, local chefs will love having fresh, beautiful microgreen available all year around.
